

PROVINCIAL CARING PARTNERSHIPS COMMITTEE

Victims of Family Violence in our Communities; Knowledge, Support and Empowerment

A Report of the Networking Conference of the Provincial Caring
Partnerships Committee (PCPC)
November 22nd to November 24th 2006, Fredericton, New Brunswick

The Provincial Caring Partnerships Committee (PCPC) is a network of New Brunswick 'caring communities' taking grassroots action to inform and educate the public about family violence issues and solutions. This organization has been in existence in New Brunswick for the past thirteen years and is currently chaired by Dr. Deborah Doherty of Public Legal Education Information Services, N.B. The provincial committee is comprised of dedicated volunteer representatives from community, non profit agencies and government departments. PCPC acts as a catalyst to support 'caring communities' across New Brunswick by offering resources, support and networking opportunities for family violence awareness and prevention initiatives. Each 'caring community' has created partnerships among local groups, businesses, service clubs, social agencies and individuals who are concerned about family violence and its wide spread effects throughout society.

Conference Goals

This is the fourth conference organized by PCPC. The mandate of this conference was to share current information on family violence issues and to provide networking opportunities for those involved in 'caring community' activities for the prevention of family violence within the province of New Brunswick. We are pleased to report that the 2006 conference was very successful.

The theme of this conference was "Victims of Family Violence in our Communities; Knowledge, Support and Empowerment." Community groups often state that lack of access to updated information and educational opportunities, lack of sharing and networking opportunities and limited available funding are all factors that hinder community efforts for family violence prevention and awareness at the grass roots level. This networking conference aimed to help volunteers and professionals from the community and within government to expand our knowledge about family violence prevention and communicate information relating to new initiatives and to share resources. The goals of the conference were;

- To offer a broad range of information relating to new community and government initiatives in New Brunswick for victims of Family Violence;
- To support and foster community partnerships with the common goal of family violence prevention;
- To expand the provincial base of volunteers and professionals knowledgeable about Family violence prevention and have discussion about the sharing of resources;
- To bring together New Brunswick people from different sectors and backgrounds and provide networking opportunities for those who are concerned about family violence prevention;
- To have a conference that is inclusive to all New Brunswickers, with simultaneous translation services for francophone and Anglophone participants and topics that covered family violence prevention for people of diverse cultural groups.

Conference Planning Committee

Susan Gavin, representing the Department of Justice and Consumer Affairs, Province of New Brunswick chaired the conference planning committee. The organization of this conference was done collaboratively with active PCPC team members; Janice Clowater, Department of Public Safety, Community & Correctional Services; Lindsay Manuel, CHIMO and Mary Louise Wood, Canadian Red Cross.

Therese Murray, representing the Muriel McQueen Fergusson Foundation later joined the committee meetings and lent her planning expertise to the group. This committee was assisted by Guy Vienneau, a part time community animator hired by PCPC for a one year project. The conference was co-hosted by the Woodstock PCPC Caring Community as represented by Marisa Pelkey, Department of Public Safety. Most members of the planning committee met approximately once per week in person and by conference call between July and November 2006.

Publicity and Promotion: (See Appendix A)

The PCPC community animator, Guy Vienneau was delegated the responsibility to promote the conference. It was publicised widely across the province through various media. The Conference was promoted in a new PCPC electronic newsletter (Caring Communities News - September/Septembre 2006 - Nouvelles des Communautés à Coeur). Mr. Vienneau also contacted media outlets across New Brunswick and circulated conference announcements to agencies on the attached communications list. (See Appendix A). Conference planning committee members also circulated announcements about the conference through professional contacts, government and community networks and on e-mail lists. Rogers's television and a local Fredericton newspaper, the Daily Gleaner, were present during the conference for interviews. CBC Radio-Canada interviewed Mr. Vienneau in Moncton prior to the conference. A photocopy of an article in the Daily Gleaner is attached to the paper copy of this report.

Conference Reception (See Appendix B; Reception Program).

The conference opened with a reception which took place at Centre Communautaire Sainte-Anne, Fredericton, N.B. on the evening of November 22nd, 2006. This event was organized with the goal of giving conference participants the opportunity to meet and network prior to the conference. The reception was included in the price of the conference registration. Two PCPC members offered to act as the co-hosts for the reception, Lindsay Manuel of CHIMO and Marisa Pelkey of the Woodstock Caring Community who welcomed the guests. Several dignitaries had been invited to give a brief speech at the Reception including; the Honourable Carmel Robichaud, Minister responsible for the Status of Women, Family and Community Services who gave opening remarks. The Attorney General and Minister of Justice and Consumer Affairs, the Honourable T.J. Burke, followed with further comments about the importance of Family Violence prevention in our province. Jim Carter, Assistant Deputy Minister of Community & Correctional Services represented the honourable John Foran, Minister of the department of Public Safety who was unable to attend. Deputy Mayor Scott McConaghy spoke to the group on behalf of Mayor Brad Woodside of the City of Fredericton.

Following the speeches by the invited dignitaries, Dr. Deborah Doherty, Chair of the PCPC committee gave a brief history of the organization. Susan Gavin, conference chairperson spoke about the goals and mandate of the 2006 PCPC conference and introduced the entertainer for the evening. A local actor, Robbie O'Neill gave a dramatic performance called 'Tighten the Traces'. This was a moving enactment of the life of a man named Leo Kennedy who developed Cerebral Palsy and overcame many hardships including discrimination. The audience was moved to laughter and tears and thoroughly enjoyed this performance. Upon the conclusion of the performance, refreshments were served and several of those in attendance enjoyed the food and meeting other conference participants. The Reception was planned to encourage conference participants to meet and network among each other in a relaxed and entertaining atmosphere. From the reports of those who were present and based upon the outcomes of the evaluation forms, our goals were accomplished successfully.

Conference Organization: (See Appendix C- Agenda)

The conference was one and one half days long. The conference format was organized with panel presentations to provide a maximum amount of information on a wide range of family violence topics. Each Panel consisted of 3 to 4 presenters and was facilitated by PCPC Committee members. Time was allotted for questions at the end of each panel presentation. Each facilitator was asked to make personal contact with their panel presenters prior to their presentations to introduce themselves and confirm their allotted time. (Appendix D- Facilitator's Agenda). Facilitators were also expected to assist the presenters to remain within their allotted time. The speakers were selected on the basis of recommendations from the conference planning committee and their professional contacts. The committee had decided to invite speakers who lived and worked in New Brunswick rather than recruit presenters from outside of the province.

The masters of ceremonies for the conference were Lindsay Manuel, CHIMO and Marisa Pelkey, Woodstock Caring Community. Following the introductions, RCMP constable Doug Lockhart was thanked for arranging the use of the RCMP Headquarters facilities for the conference. Dr. Deborah Doherty, chairperson of PCPC gave a brief historical overview of the PCPC organization. One of the dignitaries who were unavailable to attend the Conference reception, Mayor Frank Dunn of the Village of New Maryland, shared a few opening remarks. The Co-hosts acknowledged and welcomed the Silent Witnesses from the Silent Witness Project which were positioned in various locations within the conference room.

An important arrangement for the well being of the participants at this conference was a wellness room located within close proximity to the main conference room. Participants were reminded throughout the conference that if they felt the need to recover from emotional distress as a result of the information being presented at the conference, that they were welcome to use the wellness room. Designated conference planning committee members who had prior trauma training volunteered to check the wellness room periodically and observe for any indications that conference participants may require some extra emotional support. Most presenters used a power point format for their presentations and the RCMP Headquarters kindly offered the use of their equipment. A fun and entertaining aspect during the conference was the draw for door prizes throughout the conference which amounted to thirty nine donated items ranging from note cards to gift certificates at several different businesses. (See Appendix N)

Conference Highlights

The conference offered presentations within three streams of information consistent with the theme and title of the conference; “Victims of Family Violence in our Communities; Knowledge, Support and Empowerment”. A fourth panel on the final day provided information pertaining to ‘care for the caregiver’.

The conference Key-Note Speaker, Ginette Petitpas Taylor, Victim Services Coordinator, Codiac Police Force gave an inspirational message to the audience in her opening remarks entitled “The Importance of Prevention and Challenging Attitudes”.

Knowledge

The first stream of presenters in the ‘Knowledge’ panel shared valuable family violence information on topics such as; ‘New initiatives for Victims’ by Kathryn Gregory, Crown Prosecutor Specialized Prosecutions, Office of the Attorney General, Fredericton, N.B. An informative presentation was given by Mary Louise Wood, Associate, RespectED, Canadian Red Cross, Fredericton, N.B. entitled ‘The Hidden Hurt’ highlighting research results summarizing the impact upon children who witness family violence. A most informative presentation was provided by Dr. Deborah Doherty outlining the results of research pertaining to Family Violence, Firearms and Animal Abuse. Another presenter in this stream but who had requested that she be scheduled at another time slot was Constable Michelle Martin, RCMP who shared information about the topic of Child Pornography.

Support

The second stream of information covered topics relating to Support for Victims of Family Violence. This panel commenced with a presentation by Emily Bell of Public Legal Education Services, Fredericton, N.B. entitled ‘The Healing Journey: Family Violence Prevention in Aboriginal Communities’. This was followed by a presentation called ‘A Step Towards Healthy Relationships’ by Terrance Trites, Options Program Manager, Family Service Moncton, Inc. N.B. This was followed by Anne Leblanc, Project Coordinator, Beausejour Family Crisis Resource Centre, Shediac, N.B. with ‘Spousal Abuse...A matter that concerns us all!’. The final topic in the ‘Support’ stream pertained to people who are immigrants and refugees entitled “Newcomers to Canada, understanding their context when accessing services for Victims of Family Violence” by Aneas MacInnis, Multicultural Association, Fredericton, N.B.

Empowerment

The third stream of panel presentations were focused upon ‘Empowerment for Victims of Family Violence’ commencing with a presentation called ‘Workplace Bullying 101’ by Marilyn Noble, Community Co-Chair and Project Coordinator, Research Team on Workplace Violence and Abuse (Workplace Bullying), Fredericton, N.B.. This was followed by ‘Outreach: A Woman-Centered, Woman-Directed Approach to Working with Women Who Have Experience Family Violence’ by Liz Lautard, Outreach Coordinator, Liberty Lane, Fredericton, N.B. The third panel presenter was Lorraine Whalley of the Fredericton Sexual Assault Crisis Center, Fredericton, N.B. who spoke upon ‘Support for Survivors of Sexual Assault - A Provincial Approach’. This panel was concluded with an informative presentation entitled ‘Senior Abuse and Neglect’ by Dr. Dorothy MacKeracher of the Teaching and Learning Services, Third Age Center, University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, N.B.

Self Care

The fourth and final panel was designed to provide information to nourish and sustain victims of family violence and those who support and advocate for victims. Topics ranged from ‘Compassion Fatigue’ by Robin Geneau, MA L Psych., Beaverbrook Counselling Centre Inc. Fredericton, N.B. to ‘Radical Self Care’ by Katherine Downton of Life Song Yoga, Fredericton, N.B. and included “Spirituality and the Power to Care” by Don MacDougall, of Fredericton, N.B. concluded by Dr. Barbara Cull-Wilby, of Fredericton, N.B. with her amusing presentation called “Laughing for your Health”. Some presenters and most PCPC member agencies brought brochures pertaining to their programs and services for the conference participants to take. These brochures and hand out materials were displayed and made available at numerous display tables located within the conference room. Presenters were each presented with a thank you gift from donated items solicited from local businesses and community members. (See Appendix E, Summary of Presenter’s Biographies)

Networking Sessions and PCPC Show and Share

A primary focus of this networking conference was to help volunteers and professionals from the community and within government to expand our knowledge about family violence prevention and communicate information relating to new initiatives and resources. Two of the main goals were identified as 1) fostering community partnerships with the common goal of family violence prevention and 2) to expand the provincial base of volunteers and professionals knowledgeable about Family violence prevention and have discussion about the sharing of resources.

To meet these goals, the conference committee structured a networking session and a show and share feature as important elements of this conference. Two PCPC members, Rina Arseneault of the Muriel McQueen Fergusson Research Center and Lorraine Whalley of the Fredericton Assault Crisis Center facilitated the Networking session. A number of questions were posed to the large group; How can we stay motivated to continue our work to prevent Family Violence?; What is PCPC’s role in this network and how can we help everyone stay connected, both to us, and to each other?

What is your role as individuals and community groups in family violence prevention?

These questions were communicated in French and English to the large group which was then divided into several smaller sized discussion groups. The facilitators, Rina and Lorraine, circulated among the groups. After sufficient small group discussion, a representative of each small group was asked to summarize their group's responses to the large group. The facilitators recorded their ideas on flip charts which were summarized for this report. (Appendix F).

Outcomes

Some exciting outcomes of the networking session were that a new 'caring community' has joined PCPC, Miramichi reached out to a rural area to establish another committee in Rogersville, N.B. Another promising result is that there is interest among individuals in one of the networking groups to re-energize and re-establish the Fredericton-Oromocto Caring Community. Another wonderful outcome is that a few participants from the Burnt Church First Nations are interested in setting up a caring community. Participants from another rural community, Hartland, N.B., will partner with Woodstock to get help setting up as a PCPC 'caring community' in their area.

The Show and Share session was an opportunity for agencies who offer programs and services to victims of family violence within New Brunswick, to share information about their family violence prevention initiatives in their respective communities. This was an important opportunity to learn about resources that could become valuable tools to share, among many agencies in communities across the Province. Eight PCPC member agencies were scheduled to give a brief presentation at this session. (See Appendix C-Agenda). A sign up sheet was available for any of the conference participants to participate in the Show and Share and a number of them took this opportunity to do so.

Conference Participation

A substantial number of people involved in Family Violence Networks attended the conference. Sixty four people from across New Brunswick participated in the conference in addition to PCPC members and some conference presenters for a total of approximately ninety eight people. The participants represented; Transition Houses, Homeless Shelters, Youth Homes, Women’s Groups, Community Health Clinic, Social Service Agencies, Legal Aid Commission, Faith and Family Services sectors, Police agencies, John Howard Society, University representatives, the Sexual Assault Crisis Centre, the Canadian Red Cross, and Public Legal Education and Information Services. Representation from government departments included Justice and Consumer Affairs, Public Safety, RCMP, Women’s Issues Branch and Education who joined together to listen and share ideas about initiatives, research and services for victims of family violence in New Brunswick. The conference brought together Francophone, Anglophone and First Nation communities from across the province. (See Appendix G: Participants List).

PCPC reached out to the community to gather participants from a cross section of ages, language and cultural groups within our province in a variety of ways. For instance, with youth, a partnership was formed with a local Pathfinder group who assisted with assembling chocolate roses to include with the conference kits at registration. Their help was appreciated and it served as a learning experience for the pathfinders. Susan Gavin, chairperson of the conference planning committee, facilitated a discussion at one of their meetings on the topic of family violence prevention, dating violence, strategies to recognize it and resources. A few middle school aged youth were invited to assist at the conference reception on November 22nd and they assisted in assembling conference kits and helping at the reception.

Conference Evaluation

A review of the conference evaluation forms indicates that the conference was a great success, 93.6% of the 47 participants who filled out an evaluation form reported that they loved the conference with no respondents identifying that they did not enjoy the conference at all. Some of the comments on the form were; “Enjoyed the whole conference, knowledge and support panels were very insightful; provided a lot of information to take back and share with the agency and clients”, “Partnerships are the key to success” and “It is important to share our work together, support each other and encourage our self care”. (See Appendix H; Evaluation forms). An e-mail list of conference participants was developed for distribution to those participants who wanted to maintain contact and wished to continue their networking. Conference materials and other PCPC resource materials were available in both French and English at the conference. Many agencies had booths with free publications in both official languages for the participants to take with them. Digital photos which were taken at the conference are copied on to a compact disc which will remain with PCPC documentation.

Conference Funding and Support

Conference participants were charged a modest registration fee which included the cost of an evening conference reception with food and entertainment, attendance at the full conference with excellent presentations and a generous lunch with two nutrition breaks during the conference. Two of the goals of this conference were to expand the provincial base of volunteers and professionals knowledgeable about Family violence prevention and to bring together New Brunswick people from different sectors and backgrounds with networking opportunities for those who are concerned about family violence prevention. With these goals in mind and considering the importance of making this conference as inclusive as possible, conference subsidies were granted to enable individuals who could not otherwise attend. A small sub committee of the conference planning committee were organized to review all of the applications for subsidy requests. Travel and hotel subsidies were made available to those who needed them and met the criteria. Approximately 16 participants were approved for a conference subsidy. (See Appendix I; Subsidy criteria).

The conference planning committee was able to manage the budget without a deficit for the conference. Pending funding from a grant from the RCMP foundation is tentative. A draft budget is attached indicating expenses as of January 31, 2007. The final budget will be attached once all of the expected invoices are received and paid. (See Appendix J- Conference Budget)

The conference was funded for simultaneous translation services from the New Brunswick Department of Intergovernmental and International Relations. A remaining portion of the expense for the translation services, not covered by the latter department was paid for from a grant from the Executive Council office, Women's Issues Branch of the Government of New Brunswick. A grant from the Fredericton Community Foundation funded the payment of conference speakers, presenters and facilitators (honorariums, per diems, transportation, meals and accommodation). This grant also contributed to the cost of the conference participant's lunch and nutritional breaks. A grant from the Muriel McQueen Fergusson Foundation paid for a portion of the conference subsidies program and a portion of the conference meal expenses. Several PCPC member organizations provided some in kind support and monetary assistance. One nutrition break was sponsored by the Minister of the Department of Family and Community Services. Another nutrition break was sponsored by other PCPC member organizations, PLEIS, the Muriel McQueen Fergusson Family Violence Research Center and the John Howard Society (Saint John Branch). A grant from the city of Fredericton contributed towards the costs for the opening reception (snacks, refreshments and entertainment). The conference was held at the RCMP Headquarters at no charge, due to PCPC committee member Sgt. Doug Lockhart, and other types of financial and in kind support.

Names of the conference funders were acknowledged throughout the conference commencing with the opening night reception (See Appendix B; Reception Program). A display table included a list of the funders. The co-hosts acknowledged and publicly thanked the funding sources several times over the one and one half days of the conference. The list of conference funders were also acknowledged on a power point presentation that was clearly visible to all participants during the meal that was served in the conference room

PCPC Members were approached to determine what kind of financial or in kind support could be provided to support the conference. (See Appendix K). Four PCPC member groups joined resources to sponsor a nutrition break; P.L.E.I.S., the Muriel McQueen Fergusson Research Centre, CHIMO and the Saint John Chapter of the John Howard Society. Several PCPC members contributed in kind support with the organization and delivery of the conference including PCPC representatives from the Department of Justice and Consumer Affairs, the Department of Public Safety, Community & Correctional Services, CHIMO, the Canadian Red Cross and the Muriel McQueen Fergusson Foundation. A PCPC member representing the Minister for the Department of Family and Community Services sponsored a nutrition break. RCMP, Doug Lockart was of great assistance in coordinating the use of the Headquarter's facilities for the conference, ensuring that the technical requirements for the conference were set up and arranging for Cst. M. Martin to give a presentation at our conference.

The Red Cross and CHIMO assisted greatly with staff from their respective resources of volunteers to set up chairs at the conference location, typing flip chart material, summarizing evaluation forms and so forth. Women's Issues Branch were also helpful with setting up chairs at the conference, donating pins to hand out at the conference and donating a book as a door prize as well as arranging for their Minister to speak at the reception. Many thanks are given to the Muriel McQueen Ferguson Foundation for efficiently managing the many administrative responsibilities related to the conference including processing registration forms, responding to enquiries about the conference, organizing and taking responsibility for the registration desk at the Reception and Conference and continuing with the financial management of the conference after the community animator, Guy Vienneau's, contract expired.

Conference Follow Up

PCPC is reviewing the suggestions that conference participants shared at the 2006 networking conference. Over the long-term, PCPC hopes to address and incorporate many of these suggestions into our work plan and action strategy providing the funding is available to undertake the necessary work. However, in the short-term, PCPC made the following two commitments:

- 1) PCPC will distribute copies of the Conference Report to those conference participants who requested follow up information. (See covering letter Appendix L and e-mail list of participants requesting follow up- Appendix M)
- 2) PCPC will review the outcomes of the conference networking discussion groups and consider the recommendations and ideas put forth by conference participants.

4^e Conférence provinciale de réseautage en matière de prévention de la violence familiale

« Victimes de violence familiale dans nos communautés: Informer, soutenir et promouvoir l'autonomisation »

22 – 24 novembre 2006
Quartiers généraux de la GRC, Division « J »
Fredericton, Nouveau-Brunswick

Le thème que nous avons choisi pour la conférence cette année est « Informer, soutenir et promouvoir l'autonomisation. » Nous sommes conscients qu'un grand nombre d'agences et organismes bénévoles, communautaires, professionnels et/ou gouvernementaux, œuvrent à la prévention de la violence dans la vie des femmes, hommes, enfants, jeunes et aînés. Nous sommes également conscients qu'il existe différents contextes sociaux, économiques et culturels qui deviennent des barrières uniques se dressant devant les victimes à la recherche d'aide. Il en résulte souvent que les intervenants ou agences en arrivent à travailler en vase clos. Le but de cette conférence est de faciliter le partage d'information à propos des différentes facettes de la violence familiale et des agences/programmes qui tentent d'en prévenir les effets néfastes.

Vous êtes fortement invité(e)s à vous inscrire à l'avance dans le cadre de cette conférence, afin de faciliter la gestion des mesures de sécurité en vigueur aux Quartiers généraux de la GRC

*La traduction simultanée sera disponible pour toute la durée de la conférence, sauf lors de la réception d'ouverture

APPENDIX C- CONFERENCE AGENDA- ENGLISH

Victims of Family Violence in our Communities: Knowledge Support and Empowerment

A Networking Conference of the Provincial Caring Partnerships Committee
When: November 22 - 24, 2006
Where: RCMP "J" Division Headquarters
Fredericton, New Brunswick

The theme of this year's conference is 'support, knowledge and empowerment'. We know that many volunteer, community, professional and government agencies play a role in addressing violence in the lives of women and men, children, youth and seniors. We also know that social, economic and cultural environments can create unique barriers for victims searching for help. As a result, we often end up working in silos. The goal of this conference is to share information on the different aspects of Family Violence and the agencies/programs addressing it - and to look for the common elements and ways of bridging our differences and working more collaboratively to eradicate violence.

We encourage you to PRE-REGISTER since the conference is at RCMP Headquarters and it helps security to have names listed in advance.

(Simultaneous translation shall be provided throughout the conference except for during the Reception)

Appendix E- Presenter's Biographies

Presenter Biographies

Robbie O'Neill

Robbie O'Neill's career in theatre began in the 1970s when he co-founded Nova Scotia's Mulgrave Road Co-op Theatre Company. He produced, wrote and acted in many original plays with Mulgrave Road including his one-man show Tighten the Traces, which toured across Canada and the Eastern United States, to Great Britain and Australia. The play captures the spirit of a man named Leo Kennedy (from Canso, Nova Scotia) whose story has been an inspiration to many. In spite of having cerebral palsy, Leo lived an independent, rich and full life, with courage and good humour.

As a free-lance actor, Robbie has performed with Ottawa's National Arts Centre Theatre company, Montreal's Centaur Theatre, Theatre Plus, Tarragon and Factory Theatre in Toronto, Theatre New Brunswick (Daddy Sherry in The Kite), and, for the Stephenville Theatre Festival, with Ship's Company, Eastern Front Theatre and at the Banff Centre of Fine Arts.

Robbie currently works as a Project Officer for the Public Awareness Branch, Department of Public Safety

Ginette Petipas Taylor

Ginette is a graduate of the Université de Moncton in social work, and has worked as Victim Services Coordinator with the Codiac Regional RCMP since 1992. She provides crisis intervention to victims of sexual abuse, family violence and other trauma situations.

Ginette has volunteered on several local and provincial groups, including the boards of the Coalition against Abuse in Relationships, Crossroads for Women, the Sexual Abuse Action Committee and the Advisory Committee on Public Safety.

Ginette was appointed by the provincial government to the New Brunswick Advisory Council on the Status of Women in 2002 and became its Chairperson in 2005. Recently, she was invited to write a weekly column on women's issues in the Moncton Times & Transcript.

Kathryn Gregory

Kathryn Gregory is currently the Crown prosecutor, Specialized Prosecutions, Public Prosecutions Branch, Office of the Attorney General of NB. Some of her professional background includes:

- Chair of the Public Prosecutions Branch working committee on Domestic Violence, Member of the NB Steering Committee working on the Domestic Violence Court project, and contact representative for issues relating to domestic violence and victim issues in Public prosecutions.

- Prosecution work on commercial crime files, child exploitation files, conflict files involving all types of criminal offences, aboriginal/constitutional files.
- Association Lawyer, and litigation work primarily in the areas of personal injury and family law.
- Kathy is the lead singer for the Fredericton-based classic rock band, Helenback, a group that has been performing Fredericton/Nackawic/Woodstock/St. Stephen and other areas of NB since 2001.
- She also performs as a solo act all over NB, playing at conventions, weddings and other venues since 2000.
- Released her first CD of her original music entitled "Eyes on You" in 2004.

Mary Louise Wood

Associate, RespectEd, Violence and Abuse prevention Canadian Red Cross, Atlantic Zone, Fredericton, N.B.

Aneas MacInnis

Aneas has worked as a Settlement Worker for the Multicultural Association of Fredericton (MCAF) for the past 9 years. She received her BA from UNB in 1996 with a double major in Psychology and Sociology. Her work with MCAF includes assisting refugees upon their arrival in Canada with all their settlement needs. She also recruits volunteers and matches them with newcomer families under a national program called Host. The MCAF provides a wide range of services to Permanent Residents of Canada, such as language training, employment facilitation and settlement services. The settlement workers assist hundreds of newcomers each year as they face the difficulties of starting their life over in a new environment, often in isolation from extended family and all that is familiar to them. Among the many issues that come up when working with families, the Settlement Team has had some experience acting as advocates for newcomers facing issues relating to family violence and the law.

Deborah Doherty

Deborah Doherty, Ph.D., is the Executive Director of the Public Legal Education and Information Service of New Brunswick. Deborah is responsible for identifying the law information needs of people living in New Brunswick, and developing resources and educational services to meet those needs. She is currently a co-principal researcher on two family violence research teams – both of which use collaborative, participatory action approaches. One study is examining the nature and extent of firearms involvement and animal abuse in family violence situations in rural homes and the other is looking at health services responses to abused rural women. As a member of the New Brunswick Silent Witness Committee, Deborah researches and writes about factors contributing to domestic homicide risk in New Brunswick.

Emily Bell

Emily Bell is the Legal Research Coordinator with Public Legal Education and Information Service of New Brunswick (PLEIS-NB). She holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in psychology as well as a Bachelor of Laws, both from the University of New Brunswick. Originally from Sussex, New Brunswick she practiced Family Law in Saint John for three and a half years before joining PLEIS in January 2006.

Terrance Trites

Terrance worked with the Family Violence Prevention Initiative of NS in the mid 90's. On returning to Moncton, he connected with the Coalition Against Abuse in Relationships (CAAR-CCAR) and is currently their co-chair along with Paulette Levesque. He works for Family Service Moncton Inc. managing the Options Programs; for Men, Women and for Children who Witness Family Violence. He is a facilitator of these programs as well as a certified facilitator for the Moderate intensity Family Violence Prevention program for Correction Canada. He is also the Coordinating Liaison for MensWork/Voix s'hommes, a provincial group of men and women whose goal is to be men working with men to end violence against women. Terrance is an ordained minister with Presbyterian Church in Canada, and with his wife, has had 20+ years as a foster family within three Canadian provinces.

Anne LeBlanc

Anne LeBlanc is working at the Beausejour Family Crisis and Resource Centre since November 2000 as project coordinator on a contractual basis. The Beausejour Family Crisis and Resource Centre is a non-profit community base organization serving the Shediac/ Cap-Pelé and surrounding areas. In 1982, she obtained a bachelor in recreation from l'Université de Moncton. She worked for ten years in the recreation sector at the municipal level. During this time, she continued her studies on a part time basis and she obtained in 1988 a certificate in gerontology from the Université de Moncton. After 10 years in her professional field, she decided to return as a full time student in order to obtain her master in education (career counseling) in 1991. Since 1992, she has worked in the education and leisure sectors. She worked as a career counselor for School district no 11, for the New Brunswick Community College in Dieppe and for Educacentre, which is a Learning Adult Education Centre in Vancouver, B.C. She was also hired on a contract basis as a part time lecturer at l'Université de Moncton and at the New Brunswick Community College in Dieppe. She also worked as a project coordinator of la Société Nationale de l'Acadie, PGF Consultant Firm and now for the Beausejour Family Crisis and Resource Centre.

Anne LeBlanc occupe le poste de coordonnatrice de projet (base contractuelle) au Centre de ressources et de crises familiales Beauséjour depuis novembre 2000. Le Centre est un organisme communautaire sans but lucratif qui dessert les régions de Shediac/Cap-Pelé.

En 1982, elle obtient un Baccalauréat en Loisirs de l'Université de Moncton. Elle travaille dans ce domaine du loisir municipal pour une période de 10 ans. Elle a ensuite poursuivi ses études à temps partiel et elle obtient un certificat en gérontologie de l'Université de Moncton en 1988. Après dix ans sur le marché du travail, elle décida de retourner aux études à temps plein afin d'obtenir en 1991, sa maîtrise en Éducation (orientation). Depuis 1992, Anne a effectué de travail sur une base contractuelle dans les domaines reliés à l'éducation, l'orientation et le loisir. Elle occupe des postes comme conseillère en orientation pour le district scolaire n° 11, Éducentre, un centre d'éducation pour les adultes à Vancouver et au Collège communautaire du N.B. à Dieppe. Elle fut également embauchée comme chargé de cours à l'Université de Moncton et au Collège communautaire du N.B. à Dieppe. Elle a travaillé comme gestionnaire de projets pour la Société Nationale de l'Acadie, pour la firme PGF Consultants et présentement pour le Centre de ressources et de crises familiales Beauséjour Inc.

Marilyn Noble

Marilyn Noble is a community-based adult educator with a particular focus on social justice issues. She is best known for her work in the field of bullying reduction, both among children and youth and in the workplace. She teaches part-time at UNB in the Faculty of Education (ED 4012, Bridging Difference: Diversity and Inclusion in Adult Learning) and in the Faculty of Business Administration (ADM 4839, The Respectful Workplace: Principles and Practices).

Liz Lautard

Liz Lautard was born and raised in Fredericton. She completed her BA with an honors in Sociology at UNB and a master's degree in Sociology at Concordia University in Montreal. She has been involved in women's issues since 1992, with a focus on violence against women. It was while working on their thesis that Liz decided to work in the field of violence against women rather than be a professor. She went to volunteer, and then work, with the Fredericton Sexual Assault Crisis Center. She now works as the Outreach coordinator with Liberty Lane, a second stage housing program. Today she will talk about Liberty Lane, and what she does.

Lorraine Whalley

Lorraine Whalley has been a member of the Fredericton Sexual Assault Crisis Centre Collective since 1983 when she joined as a crisis line volunteer. She assumed the sole staff position of Director in 1984. She received her Bachelor of Arts, Psychology in 1984 and her Bachelor of Social Work in 1994. Lorraine has been a dedicated activist for over 23 years, working towards the eradication of violence against women and, has worked with dozens of committed volunteers and project staff at FSACC to deliver preventative education programs, provide group and individual counselling to survivors of sexual violence and actively promote social change.

Dorothy MacKeracher

Dorothy MacKeracher is Professor Emerita of Adult Education in the Faculty of Education, University of New Brunswick. She is author of Making Sense of Adult Learning (2nd edition) (University of Toronto press, 2004) and of Protect Yourself and Your Property: A Guide for Savvy Seniors (Third Age Centre, Fredericton NB 2005).

Robin Geneau

Robin Geneau, M.A., is a licensed clinical psychologist in private practice. She has eight years experience in private practice in the Fredericton area and specialized in court assessments and the treatment of trauma. Robin also teaches at the University of New Brunswick on a part time basis and is currently teaching "Clinical Applications of Child and Adolescent Psychology". Prior to private practice, Robin worked for the Correctional Services of Canada in a maximum security penitentiary. Robin has given several presentations about trauma and compassion fatigue. She has also testified in court on the effects of trauma. Robin's interest in compassion fatigue comes for her own personal experience treating trauma survivors as well as her interest in supervision of residents in psychology. She believes firmly that front line workers and therapists need to be taught self care and that this is an issue that needs to be addressed by supervision.

Katherine Downton

Kathryn Downton is a certified Vini yoga teacher and yoga therapist and the founder/director of Lifesong Yoga, Fredericton's first integrated yoga and wellness centre offering complementary therapies.

Don MacDougall

Don is a spiritual director, retreat leader and spiritual education. He is an associate of the Shalem Institute for spiritual guidance and spiritual deepening, Tatamagouche Center, N.B. He has 15 years as a University Chaplain at Dalhousie University, 10 years as an adult Religious Education, 15 years as a Congregation Minister and 10 years as a spiritual director Retreat leader and spiritual education. He has his masters of Theology from Yale University and is a retired ordained minister with the United Church of Canada

Dr. Barbara Cull-Wilby

Dr. Barbara Cull-Wilby, RN is the Founder of Wholecare a global vision of personal peace -uniting science, healing and experience. She is the author of the chapter Breath and Body Wisdom. Experiencing the Personal Power of Self in the book Women's Bodies Women's Lives (2000). She is co-author of Healing: A Theory and Practice in the 2002 International Journal for Human Caring. She offers holistic counseling and weekly meditation classes at Lifesong Yoga & Wellness Centre in Fredericton - Creating Your Life, Be Still and Know, Laughter for Lunch and the gift of Silence.

APPENDIX F Summary of Flip Chart Notes from PCPC Conference Networking Session ;

Group 1

Caring Communities

1. Very beneficial, centralizes work
 - Sussex Community Linkages (up to 40 can attend)
 - Discuss, share info, initiatives, how to help each other
 - 2x a year meet with MP/MLA/Mayor to effect change
2. Sharing conference information – Present contents at community committee meeting
 - More communication needed (felt there is duplication of research, etc)
 - Rural aspects need focus (transportation, etc)
3. Public awareness, various meeting to get others involved
4. Marketing – media, newsletters
 - Need to focus on children for education, awareness, skills (daycares, kindergarten)
 - Empathy
 - Assertiveness
 - Non-bullying
 - Organizations work to centralize resources
 - Spread info
 - Pooling of resources, tools.
6. Communication, getting together is very positive.
 - Legal rights for children
 - How to fight violence more broadly; media; computer games;
 - *develop “parents against violence in the media”
 - Get parents’ associations involved

Group 2

1. Miramichi reaching out to rural areas to establish other committees (ie. Rogersville)
 - Patty has a list of groups that should be involved.
2. Next committee meeting, three attendees would present or propose going to workplaces to present tool kits.
3. Phone calls to invite absent partners.
4. November Family Violence Prevention Month
 - Pamphlet display @ Hospital
 - Radio announcements – partnerships
 - Need to get connect with daycares
5. Child Exploitations / Internet

* Family Violence and Law

- Partnered with PLEIS & NB Community College

Group 3

1. Re-energizing, re-establishing Fredericton-Oromocto Caring Community
 - Gail & Jeannie – Burnt Church First Nations – are interested in setting up caring community and Bob Ross is to participate.
 - Burnt Church - other communities
 - approaching youth –more open
2. Getting the message to pastors and clergy.
 - One-on-one meetings
 - Websites

Group 4

1. Rural committee (Hartland) with partner with Woodstock to help set up
 - Rally (RCMP To be involved)
 - Politicians Involved
 - Business
2. Sharing Info
 - Post posters and other information in the workplace
 - Getting conferences to come to rural communities
3. Involving family members, networking
 - Use food to get men to the meetings
4. Schools; daycares; make childrens' parents aware of various topics and make the issues public.
5. Workplace bullying
6. Compassionate fatigue
7. Importance of being internet savvy
8. Need to share information, services, inter-agencies

Group 5

1. Very beneficial

Personal e-mail correspondence from a family violence advocate suggested; more coordination between activism such as Take Back the Night and other planned events that the public could take part in. I would suggest the use of PAR-L for notices. A good many of us no longer read the The Gleaner but are on the feminist mailing list. Just a thought to get more Public awareness.

Group 6 – groupe francophone :

Questions :

1. Est-ce que notre communauté bénéficierait d'un comité "On vous tient à Coeur"?
Si oui, comment pouvons-nous mobiliser/régénérer ou initier ce comité dans votre communauté?
2. Comment pouvons-nous partager ce que nous avons appris pendant cette conférence dans nos communautés respectives?

3. Comment pouvons-nous engager les membres de nos communautés qui devraient faire partie de nos comités te le comité « On vous tient à cœur » - par exemple les hommes, les membres d'entreprises, les municipalités, etc.?
4. Quels moyens pourrions-nous utiliser pour marquer le message de non-violence dans notre communauté?

Remarques ressorties du groupe de discussion en français :

- Déjà un comité en place dans la région – mais il manque encore des agences ou groupes qui travaillent à enrayer la violence – il y a des efforts qui sont fait présentement pour combler ce manque.
- Veulent faire un plan d'action avec toutes les organismes qui touchent la violence pour regrouper les ressources, les argents, les in-kinds pour ainsi partager les ressources qu'elles ont – ceci pour aider à avoir des représentants de tous les groupes pour travailler ensemble sur un projet concret
- Région de Moncton il y a 2 comités de « on vous tient à cœur » CCAR – Coalition contre l'abus dans les relations ainsi que le Centre de ressources et de crise Beauséjour de Shédiac. Le Centre de crise Beauséjour sont entrain d'organiser une conférence sur l'exploitation sexuelle, l'intimidation sur Internet, et les prédateurs sexuelles.
- Aimerais toucher la pornographie infantile – aimerais toucher les parents pour mieux les sensibiliser à cette problématique;
- Une activité qui touche trois des comités « On vous tient à cœur » - c'est le radiothon – Qui dit non à la violence - qui aura lieu pour la deuxième fois en février 2007. Cette activité permet de sensibiliser et ramasser des fonds. Ce radiothon dessert le Centre de prévention Kent, Carrefour pour femmes Inc. et Centre de crise Beauséjour.
- Sont conscientes qu'il faudrait sensibiliser les jeunes dans les écoles. Sont conscientes qu'il existe des outils pour les sensibiliser mais il n'existe pas d'argent pour aider à défrayer les coût pour faire cette sensibilisation.
- Elles aimeraient que la prévention de la violence fasse partie du curriculum scolaire. Elles pensent que cette action devrait être une action de comité « on vous tient à cœur » pour qu'il fasse des démarches auprès du ministère d'éducation pour que l'on retrouve dans le curriculum de l'information pour qu'une sensibilisation soit faite autant au niveau primaire, secondaire sur les relations saines pour les jeunes.

APPENDIX H.2 SUMMARY OF EVALUATION FORMS

Feedback from 2006 PCPC networking conference “Victims of Family Violence in our Communities: Knowledge, Support and Empowerment” participants:

A total of 47 completed participant evaluation forms were received and reviewed. A breakdown of the information follows:

Did you enjoy the conference?

93.6% of respondents identified that they Loved the conference

6% of respondents identified that they enjoyed the conference somewhat.

No respondents identified that they did not enjoy the conference at all.

Comments from respondents:

“Enjoyed the whole conference, knowledge & support panels were very insightful; provided a lot of info to take back and share with agency and clients.”

“The diversity of the information offered.”

“Great information, atmosphere and location, service. Excellent MC’s and organizing committee.”

Did you learn new information or strategies to help in your family violence prevention work?

74.5% of respondents identified that they “loved it”

21% of respondents identified “somewhat”

4% of respondents indicated “not at all”

Comments from respondents:

“I became aware of some of the tool kits that are available to use in helping clients.”

“Very valuable conference, not so much in learning new information for me but hearing what is happening in this field and generating ideas about what more can be done”.

“It is really great to learn more about New Brunswick initiatives.”

Would you attend similar events in the future?

89% of respondents indicated yes

6% of respondents indicated “somewhat”

No respondents indicated that they would not attend future events

Comments from respondents:

“Yes, I want to learn more about what I can do and how I can benefit the people who need the most support.”

“Yes, I would like to learn more about child protection. More information for workers involved in this field.”

“Yes I would like to learn about violence in the homeless and addicted populations.”

Do you feel motivated to stay involved or join the PCPC network?

70% of respondents indicated that they are motivated to stay involved

19% of respondents indicated “somewhat” *

.4% of respondents indicated not at all *

* Reasons from those who indicated somewhat or not at all ranged from not enough time to close to retirement. Lack of interest and /or involvement did not seem to stem from a lack of desire to be involved.

Comments from respondents:

“Partnerships are the key to success.”

“Am interested to look further into it.”

“The more I learn about abuse issues, the more I want to learn about solutions.”

“It is important to share our work together, support each other and encourage our self care.”

APPENDIX I PCPC Networking Conference 2006 Subsidy Criteria

General Guidelines

- Applicants from outside the Greater Fredericton Area can be subsidized for travel and/or lodging only. They will be asked to pay the registration fee, which covers the cost of meals for the conference.
- Applicants from the Greater Fredericton area can be subsidized for registration only, as travel and/or accommodations do not apply.
- Applicants claiming subsidy for gas will have to demonstrate that they have carpooled with other registered participants.
- Applicants claiming subsidy for accommodations will have to demonstrate that they have shared a room with other registered participants
- We will accept one subsidy application per car OR hotel room.
- Groups or communities that have multiple delegates who applied for subsidies will be granted one subsidy to ensure representation at the conference. After the subsidy request list has been revised, and if funds remain available, a second delegate could be considered for subsidy.
- Priority Groups: Subsidy priority will be given to participants based on their involvement in the community, as follows:
 - Caring Communities Committee Members
 - Volunteers from non-profit groups involved in Family Violence Intervention/Prevention
 - Paid employees from non-profit groups involved in Violence Intervention/Prevention
 - Post-secondary students
 - Delegates from other agencies involved in Family Violence Intervention/Prevention
 - Delegates from other agencies or businesses
- Total budget is $1,500.00, of which $1,300 should be allocated to applicants outside Greater Fredericton, and $200.00 for applicants from Greater Fredericton. The maximum total amount per person is $150.00
- The subsidy amount for travel and/or lodging is a reimbursement, and the cheque will only be issued after subsidy form has been completed and proof of paid expenses is submitted; subsidized registration fees will be indicated on the registration list
- All these guidelines, but only one goal: Remember that this subsidy program is aimed at allowing the greatest number of people to attend the conference!!!

Appendix L

Hello Conference Participants

On behalf of PCPC and the 2006 PCPC Conference Organizing Committee, we are pleased to contact all of the conference participants who provided us with an email address. Attached is a copy of our Conference report. Please note the appendices which include lists of conference participants so that you have the contact coordinates of everyone in attendance.

We hope that you enjoyed the conference as much as we did. We were pleased with the diversity of presentations, the participation of several Provincial Government Ministers at our opening reception and the opportunity to discuss future directions. Needless to say we all benefited from the great facilities and food provided by the RCMP. Having an opportunity to network with so many individuals interested in being part of the solution to family violence was wonderful. Your positive evaluation comments suggest that most of you were pleased too.

Your evaluations and the outcome of our Conference Networking sessions also provided many excellent suggestions for strengthening the family violence network throughout our province, enhancing communication, and promoting greater collaborative action in public education and awareness. We think that you will be pleased to know that PCPC shall be exploring several ways that we can incorporate many of your ideas into our action strategy. We hope to be able to follow up on several initiatives for promoting community development for family violence initiatives and grassroots collaboration throughout our province.

Sincerely,

Susan Gavin, R.S.W
